

CYIOS Corporation Provides Shareholders Update

Chicago – (Marketwire – January 29th, 2020) -- CYIOS Corporation (OTCPINK: CYIO), a strategic advisory and investment company focused on the cryptocurrency and finance space is pleased to provide the shareholders the following business update.

David Greene, CYIOS CEO, commented, “The Company is pleased to provide this first business update of 2020. We have been hard at work on several initiatives with the long-term goal of creating shareholder value for our investors and stakeholders. Most recently the Company has completed the arduous steps to become fully compliant with alternative reporting standards for OTC Pink Current Information on OTC Markets. As of January 8, 2020, the Company successfully completed the filing of prior missing quarterly reports along with its SEC legal counsel Attorney Letter with Respect to Current Information which have all been posted on OTC Markets. With all documents accepted by OTC Markets, the Company is pleased to report it has brought its filings up to date so that it is now “Pink Current Information” on OTC Markets. We are confident that the Company can maintain its compliance, legal and accounting procedures to deliver ongoing transparency to its shareholders.”

New business

CYIOS now operates a completely different business than that under its former management. The company aims to position itself as a lead supporter of blockchain industries. Mr. Greene further stated, “We are currently in board-level negotiations with several blockchain related companies that we view as potentially great acquisition targets for CYIOS. We continue to seek promising blockchain companies and startups to which we and our partners can add value through our finance, technology, and commerce expertise.” Additionally, the Company is in advanced discussion with a number of key, influential advisors and new board members, and looks forward to making some of those announcements very soon.

On other business matters, recently, the Company hired outside SEC counsel to aggressively defend and respond to the recent initial decision of a Securities and Exchange Commission Administrative Law Judge that sanctioned the company and its former CEO due to activities carried out by this individual prior to 2015, at a time when the former CEO was the sole officer and director. CYIOS strongly disagrees with the latest decision and is currently working on its legal response. The Company feels strongly that the former CEO should be held solely accountable for his actions and as such will defend shareholder value to fullest extent it can so that the onus of wrongdoing is paid for by the individual responsible. The Company will update shareholders on this matter as soon as practical and is hopeful for a timely resolution so it can focus 100% of its efforts on building its business and not on legacy issues stemming from many years ago.
