

CYIOS CORP TO ACQUIRE PRIVATELY HELD HELIO LENDING

Company's to Focus on Continued Expansion of the Helio Cryptocurrency CeFi Aggregator Platform

Florida, March 25th, 2010 (OTCWIRE) – CYIOS Corp (OTC PINK:CYIO), a publicly traded company focused on developing and marketing specialty branded products in the Health and Wellness markets, is pleased to announce the acquisition of privately held Helio Lending, Pty Ltd (Helio). With operations based in Australia and San Francisco, Helio has built a unique and propriety platform enabling cryptocurrency holders to earn interest on deposits and secure loans collateralized by certain cryptocurrencies. The two companies have executed a binding letter of intent and expect the transaction to close in mid-April. The transaction is an all stock deal in which Cyios will issue a certain number of restricted common stock for 100% of interest in Helio, whereby Helio will operate as a wholly owned subsidiary of Cyios Corp. Additional details of the transaction will be disclosed at closing and includes a standard leakout agreement for Helio shareholders which will go into effect after the industry holding period of one year from closing.

Mr. John O'Shea, Cyios Corp Chairman commented, "We are very excited to announce the acquisition of Helio. The Helio Board and Shareholders have given their overwhelming support of the transaction. Cyios Corp provides Helio with a favorable public company structure which enables Helio to expand and scale its business. Since the beginning of this calendar year, Cyios Corp. has raised approximately $500,000 USD in straight equity financing, some of which will be utilized to support Helio's expansion plans, as well as to pursue other strategic opportunities to expand operations through acquisition. The business plan going forward is to leverage the Helio acquisition into building a synergistic, diversified crypto business within a public company. We are actively engaged in discussions with potential acquisition targets in the crypto space and expect to announce details as they materialize."

"As a first to market CeFi aggregator, Helio has differentiated itself as the GO-TO provider of choice offering customers an array of loan and deposit structures with the ability to pick from the best terms and rates available at any given time. Centralized finance, called "CeFi," allows people to earn interest or get loans on their cryptocurrency by lending or borrowing through a centralized corporation. Since establishing its US operations earlier this year, Helio has been aggressively expanding its cryptocurrency lending platform. The company is currently working on various partnership and affiliate agreements with some of the largest cryptocurrency lenders in the U.S. The Company anticipates announcing some of these agreements in the very near future. With access to over $100,000,000 USD funds for cryptocurrency loans Helio's value add now includes the ability to work with various loan providers at once in order to secure same day quotes on loans with varying LTV, APR, and Terms as well as to help customers negotiate for the best possible terms on their loans", concluded Mr. O'Shea.
